The Loaded Time: Seize the Open Moment

Jean Houston, Ph.D. 9:00 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Jean Houston brings psychology, philosophy and teaching together to discover latent human capacities for growth. She has spent her career in the forefront of efforts to bring knowledge from psychology and neuroscience into education and human development programs.

In this keynote event, Jean will define the open moment as “loaded time” which is when the possible beckons. She will explain how she sees each of us as individuals and global citizens who confront the open moment. This confrontation presents both danger and opportunity. The danger is our planet’s call for help and the opportunity is the possibility of reclaiming life itself.

Her work is the core of many teaching/learning communities throughout the United States, Canada, Europe and Asia. Jean is the author or co-author of fifteen books including: Public Like a Frog, The Hero and the Goddess and The Passion of Isis and Osiris. (Six CEU’s are available.)
